

Safely enhance your health using the healing power of silver!

With the The Lunasol™ Colloidal Metallic Silver Generator. A scientifically proven electronic device which can produce high quality "Colloidal Metallic Silver" conveniently and inexpensively for only a few cents per litre at home. Just put a Lunasol™ Generator into a 500ml jar of pure water and press the button.

“Colloidal Metallic Silver is a germicide and one of the most comprehensive ancient antibiotics known to science.”

✓ While most antibiotics are effective against about a half-dozen disease causing organisms (germs, bacteria, fungi, parasites and some viruses).

✓ Silver is effective against most known harmful organisms. Colloidal silver treated water is tasteless, non-toxic to living tissue and can be taken orally or applied externally.

ENHANCE YOUR HEALTH WITH

THE HEALING POWER OF SILVER TREATED WATER

"Colloidal Metallic Silver should be what your doctor should be prescribing first"

The healing power of silver was discovered thousands of years ago and has, until relatively recent times, been used as a very successful remedy when people were ill. For hundreds of years silver has been used for controlling all types of infectious diseases, sterilizing wounds, preventing the spreading of many diseases, healing common ailments and acting as a preventive medicine and an effective health tonic. Reports have been written up in numerous medical journals for well over 100 years. Because of vested interests there has been deliberate suppression or resistance of this well proven "traditional medicine" by many modern medical practitioners for the last 100 years. This suppression fuelled by misleading information has caused us to almost forget about the powerful healing power of silver and for some to believe that silver could even be harmful.

Nothing could be further from the truth and new independent research has found that silver has lost none of its healing power and when properly prepared, colloidal metallic silver (CMS) treated water is a completely non-toxic, almost tasteless, and one of the best known internal and external broad spectrum germ fighter and disinfectant we have ever discovered. There is no doubt that modern research has proven that CMS will reduce the duration and severity of most disease-causing infections.

For over 12 years we have been involved in developing LUNASOL™ with the help from two leading Australian Universities. They have helped us develop a colloidal silver solution that contains more nano-sized metallic silver clusters, than ionic silver. The nano-sized metallic silver clusters are the most desirable form of silver as they have the most killing power. Metallic silver is a “noble metal” and is extremely stable. Metallic silver will not react with any chemicals found within our body chemistry, but the unstable and potentially harmful ionic silver will react with many chemicals and other elements found in the body and then form silver compounds or silver salts, which could cause unwanted problems.

LUNASOL™ recently set the “benchmark” for all of the major, colloidal silver water manufactures to match. The quality and consistency of all of the colloidal silver products were tested and accurately evaluated to find out the total amount of silver and other impurities in the solution and the ratio of metallic silver to ionic silver. LUNASOL™ because of the purity of the silver and water being used was found to consistently have over 50% metallic silver content at an average concentration of 6.75ppm, which is ideal for absorption by the human body. No other commercially sold products tested had more than 10% metallic silver in their solutions, which was alarming. This scientific paper was prepared by Griffith University scientists and presented at the international conference of Southeast Asian Western Pacific Regional Meeting of Pharmacologists in Adelaide in 2007. It was also presented at the INFLAMMOPHARMACOLOGY 2008, at the Queens’ College, Cambridge University UK.

LUNASOL™ proved to be the “Rolls Royce” of all the colloidal silver solutions sold in Australia and overseas that were tested. Try making and using your own LUNASOL with the same generators used by the scientists. All you have to lose is the infectious disease that could be causing you health problems. Millions world wide can’t all be wrong. CMS treated water will not have any detrimental side effect on any other healing modality and no adverse physiological reactions have ever been recorded from this safe and natural traditional remedy.

LUNASOL™ is now available and for more information on CMS or how to produce your own CMS at home or obtain supplies of LUNASOL™ Colloidal Metallic Silver water see our web site.
